De Lëtzebuerger Wanderguide: Guide auto-pédestre

The Guide auto-pédestre from éditions guy binsfeld has been a classic treasured by walkers in Luxembourg for over 40 years. Now it has been fully revised in partnership with the General Directorate for Tourism – and it's being released just in time for the Bicherrentée 2025. The fifth edition has been updated with all the new routes for the auto-pédestre trails and introduces other types of routes for the first time.

The Guide auto-pédestre covers over 1,700 km on circular walks, guiding adventurers through stunning natural landscapes and highlighting captivating culture along the way. Castles, archaeological sites, museums and more are just waiting to be discovered. Just over 200 routes are each presented with va short description, photos and a map on removable pages, providing all the information required for wonderful walking experiences. Key details include the route length, elevation, difficulty level, GPS coordinates, nearby bus stops and starting point. The information for every route is provided in three languages – English, German and French. QR codes take you to the corresponding trails on visitluxembourg.lu, where you can find the latest updates, including information on route closures.

Following the changes made by the General Directorate for Tourism, the auto-pédestre trails are now signposted in both directions – and this is reflected in the revised version of the guide. Many of the routes have been updated to align with changes on the roads or to incorporate new sights and attractions or infrastructure modifications. Guttland.Trails, Éislek Pied trails, Komfort-Wanderwege (Comfort Hiking Trails), Traumschleifen (Dream Loops) and NaturWanderPark delux routes have been included this time too.

The pages are now filled with even more photos that will inspire you to lace up your walking boots and go exploring. For the first time, each of Luxembourg's five tourism regions are also introduced along with their best bits. And the main map providing an overview of all the routes is still included. Plus, the guide now includes a route list so you can record your walks as you go. How many will you tick off?

This binder with 500 pages is a must-have for all active adventurers and an invitation to start exploring Luxembourg in all its glory.

Happy walking!
